

Educate Together: New Premises Required

At Educate Together we are working towards an Ireland in which all people have access to an excellent education that is inclusive of all, irrespective of belief system, race, ethnicity, class, culture, gender, language, and ability.

In 2008, we opened 12 new schools; an unprecedented achievement for an Irish school patron body. As we continue to grow our mission poses challenges for Educate Together at both national and local level, but it is vital that we always remain focussed on making a difference for the child in the classroom, so that our efforts always support the work of the teacher in the classroom and the principal in the school.

Our National Office is currently based in Dublin 12. However as we have outgrown this space, we are seeking a donation of new premises which reflects the dynamic modern reforming nature of our organisation.

Criteria of requirements:

Building: 650m<sup>2</sup> plus

Location: National road, rail network and public transport accessible to Dublin City Centre

IT Infrastructure: High speed communications network, third generation fit out.

Charity status: As an established charity, we are exempt for taxes under Section 207, Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997. As an educational body, we are also exempt by the Valuations office from paying Commercial rates.

Education Revolutionaries Seek Donation of Headquarters!

Educate Together launches appeal to property owners and philanthropists

Educate Together, the educational charity that is aiming to revolutionise Irish education, is looking for a donation of a national headquarters building.

Educate Together has become the fastest growing sector of Irish education over the past few years, opening 12 schools in 2008 and now has 56 schools nationwide. It is seeking permission to open its first second-level schools and has no less than 45 applications for new schools on the desk of the Department of Education and Science.

The organisation has outgrown its current premises and is looking for a new headquarters. It wants to talk to a property owner or philanthropist who would be interested in donating or building such a premises.

The organisation is modern, dynamic and making a real contribution to the future of Irish society. It is pioneering an approach to education that is specifically designed for the 21st century. It would make an ideal partner for the development and promotion of a new office development or corporate space.

Paul Rowe, CEO said “We are very conscious that a large proportion of modern office space is vacant and unused. We are calling on commercial property owners to consider donating space to community and voluntary organisations.”

“We believe that this is a time when our society needs the maximum benefit of the voluntary sector - a time when we all must play a part and when social capital must be harnessed for the future of the country.”
