ONLINE COURSE

Who is it for?

This course is primarily aimed at people teaching in - or planning to teach in - Educate Together schools. It was developed in response to a survey of classroom teachers, which identified a demand for online professional development in the Learn Together curriculum.

Anyone interested in Ethical Education, and/or the ethical aspects of Social Environmental and Science Education (SESE), Social, Personal and Health Education (SPHE) or Intercultural Education will enjoy this course.

What will I learn about?

- the origins and ethos of Educate Together
- the four strands of the Learn Together curriculum
- examples of appropriate resources for teaching the Learn Together curriculum
- sourcing and adapting material for use in the delivery of the Learn Together curriculum.

Is the course interesting?

By using only the most authentic, relevant and interactive material, we have designed this brand-new course to be both stimulating and practical.

How is the course organised?

The 20 hour course is divided into five four-hour modules

Module 1 – Introduction to Educate Together and the Learn Together curriculum

Module 2 – Moral and Spiritual

Module 3 – Equality and Justice

Module 4 – Belief Systems

Module 5 – Ethics and the Environment

Since it is an online course you can complete the modules in your own time during the session. The next session is during the October half-term:

22nd - 31st October 2010

Do I need computer skills?

The course is accessible to anyone with basic computer skills. You will need to have access to a broadband internet connection.

What about feedback/assessment?

This is a facilitated online course. You will be encouraged to interact with other participants – and a tutor - throughout the course in order to share ideas and review progress. You will also complete a reflective learning log and participate in interactive forums.
